UT to Be on Exhibition For 3 Days, May 4-6

The University is staging a project this year to which both students and faculty are devoting much time and energy.

The project, titled Exposition, will take place during the University Interscholastic League Meet, May 4-6. It is being sponsored by the Student-Faculty Relations Committee under the chairmanship of Jan Scurlock.

Every college and department on the campus will swing wide its doors to visitors of all ages and schools. Demonstrations and displays are being set up and eight-seating tours organized.

This first week end in May will be a busy one for high school students all over the state who have received an invitation from Lloyd Hand, student president. Invitations have been sent to the majority of the 800 high schools in Texas.

Exposition will get underway Friday afternoon when displays will first be open. The Women's Gym will be open for six hours and will have an informal get-acquainted party Friday night. Thursday and Friday nights Orchestra Dance Drama will present a program of interpretive modern dances.

The annual mystifying Power Show, directed by W. R. Woolrich, dean of the College of Engineering, will take place Friday from 6:30 to 11 p.m.

Saturday morning an informal coffee will be held in the Texas Union. Members of the student government and other campus celebrities will act as hosts and hostesses.

Tours, conducted by University service organizations, will leave the Union every half hour. They will visit the Rare Books Room Collections, the Eugene C. Barker Texas History Center, and the Students Association will have an exhibit. They will also visit Radio House, the Anthropology Museum and see displays in architecture, zoology, and geography.

Other places of interest which will be open are the Registrar's office, the Main Library, Speech Building, and the observation deck atop the Tower.

At 2 p.m. buses will leave the Power Exhibits Need Ingenuity Of Students

"More people attend the Power Show than any other event in Austin except football," said B. H. Amstead, assistant professor of mechanical engineering and faculty chairman of the show.

"Approximately 1,000 people are required to make it a success," he added.

The power show, to be held Friday night, May 4, from 6:30 to 11 p.m., will include exhibits by the College of Engineering, the Department of Physics, Chemistry, and Meteorology, the School of Architecture, and the Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC units.

Although students and faculty members co-operate on all preliminary work in the weeks before the show, the students will handle the brunt of the work the night of the show, Mr. Amstead said.

Putting together such an exhibit requires ingenuity, because each department is limited to $35 to cover costs. Since most of the money goes for advertising, the workers have to make the displays out of laboratory equipment and any odds and ends they can find.

Borden Creates $300 Scholarship

Establishment of the Gail Borden Scholarship in Journalism by the Borden Company Foundation, Inc. in remembrance of the company's founder has been announced by Paul J. Thompson, director of the School of Journalism.

The $300 scholarship will be awarded to a student in journalism, between his junior and senior year, who has achieved the highest grades on work done during his three years in college. Besides the monetary award, the student will have his name placed on a metal plaque, and will receive a certificate.

Gail Borden was an eminent

Texan, recognized for his accomplishments as a newspaperman, statesman, and humanitarian. Journalists remember him as the editor of the Telegraph and Texas Register founded at San Felipe de Austin in 1835. Houstonians remember him as the man who plotted the first streets of their city. Galvestonians remember him as the first collector of the Port of Galveston and the manager of the company that sold the first 2,500 lots in the Island City. West Texans remember him in connection with Borden County which was named in his honor.

He was the founder of the Borden Company, nationally-known manufacturers and distributors of dairy products, animal feeds, pharmaceuticals, vitamins, and soy-bean products.

The Borden Company Foundation, which is the philanthropic branch of the Borden Company has established the journalism scholarship for five years. The Foundation offers two other scholarships at the University—one in home economics and one in pharmacy.

Neal Subpoenaed In Nouri Case

Joe Neal, University foreign students' advisor, was subpoenaed late Monday to appear in federal court today at 2 o'clock with all available official records pertaining to Kani Nouri, University junior engineering student from Iraq who is in San Antonio jail awaiting a deportation hearing.

Neal told the Texan Monday night that he was unsure whether the information he will provide will be used in a habeas corpus hearing or Nouri's civil suit against the immigration and naturalization service. He said he was instructed to appear in United States District Court, Western Division (San Antonio).

No information is available on proceedings against Iyadot Schulwolf, University student along with Nouri by immigration authorities on similar "undesirable alien" charges.

Silver Spur Award Draws Few Names

Any woman student who has completed 30 semester hours with a collective average of C is eligible. The nominee need not be a member of a service organization.

Color Television Topic of Paper At AIEE Meet

Convention to End Today With Tour And Final Banquet

A presentation and explanation of the color television systems employed by CBS and RCA was the subject of the technical paper given by R. M. Thoman, junior electrical engineering student from Kansas State College.

Thoman spoke before a gathering of the members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers Monday afternoon in the International Room in the Texas Union. The AIEE is sponsoring a contest of technical papers to be read by the various members.

Thoman pointed out that the CBS system had already been approved by the FCC, an act which has caused much controversy among the various television manufacturers. One main point of controversy is that although the CBS system is much simpler than the RCA system, it cannot be received on the regular black and white sets now in use while the RCA system can.

The Convention will hold its final meeting Tuesday in the International Room of the Texas Union. Other technical papers will be presented, beginning at 8:30 a.m., including "Electronic Brains," by Eric Li and W. A. Spinnell, University of Arkansas; "A New and Improved Voltage Regulator," by Peter Zagone and Thomas Fancello, New Mexico University; "Capacity Operated Relays," by Robert Kleist, University of Kansas; and "Survey of Structural Solutions," by R. M. Westkaemper of the University of Texas.

The meeting will adjourn at noon for the Counselor's and Chairmen's Luncheon. It will continue at 2 p.m. with an inspection trip of the Austin power plant and the Mansfield Dam hydro-electric power plant. At 7 p.m. a banquet will be held at the Lower Colorado River Authority Auditorium, 3700 Lake Austin Blvd., at which time awards will be presented.

Candidates to Stump At Union Tonight at 7

By CAROLYN BUSCH

Campaign promises, many of which will never be fulfilled, will be tossed freely at Stump Speaking tonight in the Main Ballroom of Texas Union. Campus politicians will be put on the spot by opponents' backers and interested students if form tradition holds true in this year's speaking bout.

Stump Speaking has become an annual event under the sponsorship of the Campus League of Women Voters. It is preceded by a torchlight parade which is to be at 7 p.m.

Kleber Miller, attorney general of the student body, will be master of ceremonies at the speech making session and moderator for the question and answer period.

Presidential candidates will make speeches of five minute length; vice-presidential, four minutes; and secretarial, three minutes. Several unopposed candidates will speak also for three minutes.

Mystery candidate "X," who is yet unknown to all but Stump Speaking officials, will make his announced appearance.

The question and answer period, which in the past has brought forth many political sparks, will follow the speeches for each office. At this time students are allowed to ask specific questions concerning policies or facts about the candidates. Here students have an opportunity to pin-point the vague claims of office-seekers and question the reliability of campaign promises.

The Longhorn Band, Silver Spurs, and Cowboys will lead the torchlight parade to the Texas Union at 7 p.m. The parade will assemble at the student-faculty parking lot at Twenty-sixth and Whitis Streets, across from Littlefield Dormitory.

It will move down Whitis to Twenty-fourth Street, and turn right. It will turn left on Guadalupe, make a U turn at Twenty-first and stop in front of Texas Union.

Stump Speaking will be immediately following the parade. Candidates are to assemble behind the stage of Texas Union.

Candidates will be allowed to paint cars for the parade, the Election Commission has announced. However, cars may be painted only after 2 p.m. Tuesday, and the paint must be removed by 7 a.m. Wednesday.

The Election Commission must approve all campaign stunts to be entered in the parade. All signs used must be stamped by the Texas Book Store and included in the $30 budget. The Election Commission may be contacted in the APO office in Texas Union.

No signs may be affixed to or inside the Texas Union; however, they may be carried into the Union by candidates or their supporters or may be propped against the walls.

Orange Jackets will distribute programs bearing platforms and pictures of each candidate. Mortar Board members will be the See STUMP, Page 6

For Draft Deferment—

Books and Pamphlets Claim to Beat Exam

With the first of the draft deferment examinations coming from under wraps May 26, a rash of booklets and courses offered to beat the exam have swept the country. All are supposed to help students "pass high" on the tests, and thus defer him.

One company, which has long been "preparing" people for Civil Service exams, offers a course for $10 per person which is supposed to help "prepare" students for the deferment test. One booklet called "Practice for the Army Tests," will be published April 25, just a month and a day before the first test.

"The official bulletin on the draft deferment tests gives sufficient information to examinee to enable him to know what type of examination he is to receive," said Dr. H. T. Manuel, director of the Testing and Guidance Bureau, testing center for the University area.

"To study for the test would be like teaching students who are taking it how to pass or fail an eye test," Dr. Manuel said.

"The purpose of the draft deferment test is to evaluate the real abilities of those taking it. If the test doesn't do that, then something is wrong," he added.

This is the new edition of similar books which emerged during World War II for all who were about to be drafted to study for their Army General Classification Tests.

The booklet has reviews in arithmetic, vocabulary test exercises, and tests on reasoning ability. Answers are supplied in the $2 book.

He is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. McCleskey, of Baton Rouge, and his sister, Mrs. Welton O'Seal of Bogalusa, Louisiana.

Forty Acres

By RUSS KERSTEN

(This poem by Tom Camp is entitled "Views on Campus Politics, and the More I Think About It, State and National Too.")

Campus politics, here's to you. You rant and rave till you're black and blue. Of what you've done (or what you'll do) If we will only vote you through.

Magisterial Clique with pompous style, Trading votes, yet all the while Wearing the pious and pharisaical smile Of a canary-full cat; without guile.

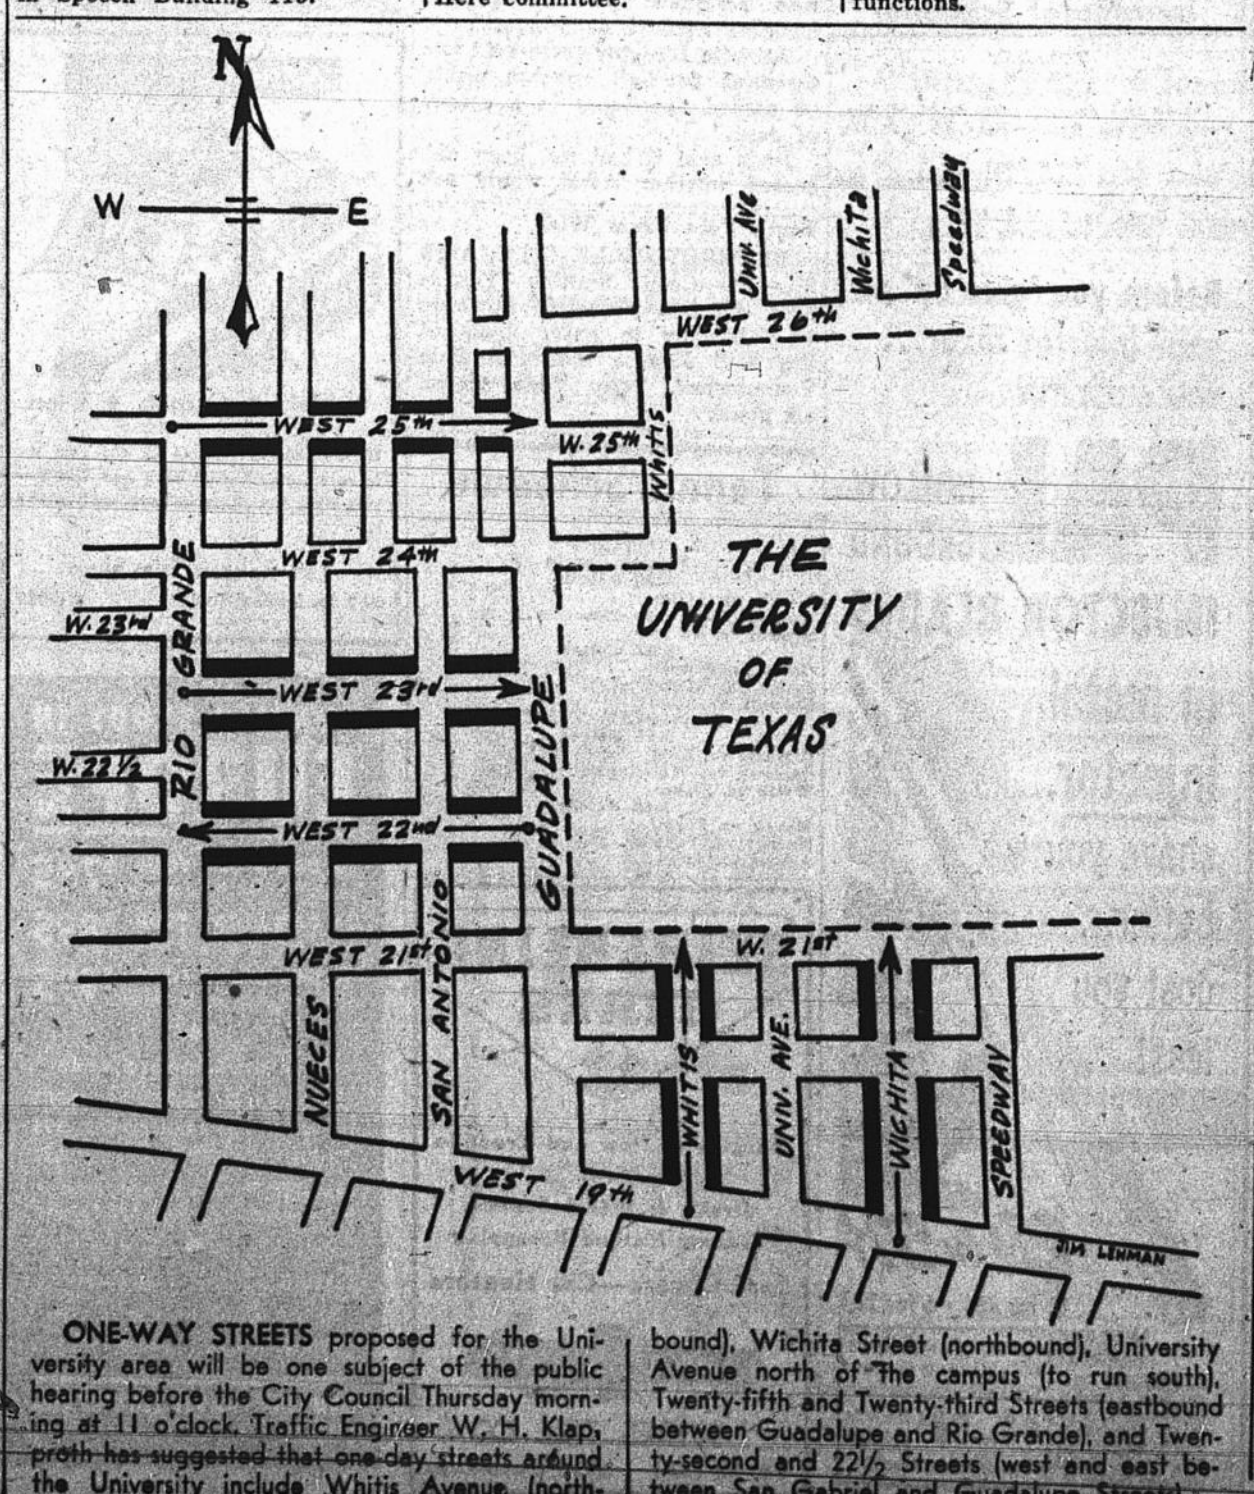

Demurring Independents, whose platform cries, "Beat the Clique, oh do or die!" And any plank will suit the eye If it keeps the Clique from placing a guy.

And female rebellion. What? Again? (That extra rib we should have kept in) More contrariety now, and why my friend? Simply 'cause women wish to play-like they're men.

The merit system (other parties yell, "That bunch of bull can go to hell!") But gentlemen hush, who can tell? THAT sort of thing might come off well.

And as politics, I'm sorry to find, Loves muddling statements and ignorant minds, My advice on voting then is, in fine,

Listen cynically Dissect minutely Discuss discreetly Deduce logically Decide deliberately Vote carefully Don't join the WCTU or the Marines. Have another drink and God save the King!

By JEFF HANCOCK
Texas Intramural Co-ordinator

Finals in five running events of intramural track will be held today in Memorial Stadium. Starting time for the third round of the 1951 track proceedings will be 4:30 p.m.

Four University champions were determined in action last week. James Rickard of Sigma Chi won the high jump Monday with a leap of 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches. In Monday's other finals event, T. Maxey Hart of Sigma Alpha Epsilon took first place in the shot put throw with a distance of 38 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

The Rinky Dink's Don Barton broke the University record in the broad jump Thursday with a leap of 22 feet, 11 inches. Bob Riley, also of the Rinky Dinks, won the softball throw in Thursday's other finals event with a throw of 289 feet, 2 inches.

Eight qualifiers will run in today's finals of the 100-yard dash. Milton Black of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Pat Hall will represent the fraternity division. Don Barton, Rinky Dinks, and Eugene Wiggins of Prather Hall will run for the club division.

Harold O'Dell of Twin Pines and Jim Upchurch of Oak Grove will represent the Mica division, while Joe Minor and Richard Hampton of UCC will represent the Church division. Barton has the best time so far with a 10 seconds flat performance.

The 220-yard dash will also include eight men. Fraternity division qualifiers in the 220 are Tim O'Neill of Kappa Sigma and Ballard George of Delta Tau Delta. Howard Moon of the Air Force ROTC, and Tom Stohand-ske of the Rinky Dinks will be club division entrants. Jerry Tomau of Oak Grove and Dwain Kelly, an independent, will represent the Mica division.

Keith Webster and Joe Minor, both of UCC, will run for the Church division. O'Neill had the best time in the divisional finals with a 22.9 performance.

The 120-yard low hurdles will have only six participants. Don Menasco of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Larry Lacy of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will represent the fraternity division, while Roger Tolar and Thomas Hopkins of UCC will run for the Church division.

These two divisions had the two fastest heats in the semi-finals, Menasco topping the timbers in 13.5 seconds for the best time. Jack Barton of the Rinky Dinks will represent the club division, and Jack Tolar of Oak Grove the Mica division.

The 440-yard relay race will include six teams. Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma of fraternity, Rinky Dinks and Air Force ROTC of club, Oak Grove of Mica, and UCC of the Church division will run the quarter-mile relay race. SAE had the best time in Thursday's divisional finals with 44.9.

Delta Tau Delta will also run from the fraternity division. The club division will have two entries in the Pem Club and the Rinky Dinks. Oak Grove will be the Mica division representative and UCC the Church division participant.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the team championship in the fraternity division meet Thursday with 31 points. Oak Grove captured the Mica division crown with 50 points, and the Rinky Dinks won the club division with 40 1/2 points. University Christian Church won the Church division easily with 62 points.

UT Netmen Top Oklahoma, 5-2

Longhorn Netters Still Undefeated

The Texas Longhorn tennis team maintained their winning streak and "robbed" Oklahoma of their seven-game winning streak Monday when they slapped a 5-2 defeat on the Sooners at Penick Courts.

Art Stiles blasted his way through three sets to gain his winning two sets over Dick Land, 6-3, 6-3. Land took over in the second set for his only victory, 6-4.

Charles Bludworth and Dick Smith took easy victories over their northern competitors. Bludworth beat Don Walraven, 6-4, 6-1, while Smith breezed past Roger Clark, 6-1, 6-3.

Julian Oates and Bill Harris combined in a doubles team to down Cunningham and G. Land, 6-3, 6-1, after the Oklahoma duo had won the first set, 9-7.

With the duel of Bludworth and Gerhardt, Texas grabbed the second doubles match from the Sooner pair of D. Land and Walraven, 6-3, 6-1.

Bernard Gerhardt found rough sledding in Oklahoma's No. 2 man, Glen Land, and was only able to win the first set, 8-6. Land came back in the final two sets to cop the match, 6-4, 6-4.

Texas' other defeat came at the hands of the Sooner No. 1 player Charles Cunningham. He launched a 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Oates.

Yearlings Meet Rice Owlets In Return Game Here Today

By JIM DODD
Team Sports Staff

Riding the crest of a three-game winning streak, the Texas Yearlings will be after their second victory of the season over the Rice Owlets when the teams vie on the Texas Freshman diamond at 3:15 this afternoon.

Aided by seven Rice errors, the Yearlings defeated the Owlets 6-5 in Houston, March 27.

That was the opening game of the season for both clubs and the game was filled with miscues and mental lapses. Since that time, the two teams have ironed out the kinks, and tomorrow's tilt should be a different ball game.

Coach Red Bale of Rice is expected to send Harry Hughes to the hill against the Yearlings. Hughes was charged with the loss in the Houston game but the young righthander didn't allow Texas a single earned run. All of six of the Yearling tallies were results of his teammates errors.

Hughes went the full nine innings and allowed Texas eight well-spaced singles.

Yearling coach Dan Watson plans to use Ronald Hauge (1-0) as his starting hurler. Hauge is a big righthander with lots of speed, but has lacked good control in his previous work. He gained credit for his one win against St. Edwards in a relief role. Today's game will be his first appearance as a starter.

Cleanup hitter Travis Eckert will be Texas' biggest hope for supplying the hitting punch. The hustling centerfielder is on a four-game hitting streak. After going hitless in the first two games of the season Eckert has brought his average up to a cool .391 clip. In his last ten trips to the plate he has connected for six safeties.

The only other regular on the Yearling nine above the .300 mark is second baseman Bill Newberry with a .283 average.

Theleme Nips Brunettes, 1-0 In Air-tight Pitching Duel

Theleme Co-op defeated Brunette House, 1-0, in a double one-hitter in Monday night's top softball game.

Winning pitcher Bob Wylie and losing pitcher Dud Thompson both allowed their opponents only one hit, but Ray Haley's double scored the winning run for Theleme and gave Wylie the victory. Thompson and Wylie also equaled each other in the strikeout department, both pitchers fanning 9 batters.

Sigma Nu again used their brass combo to advantage in defeating Lambda Chi Alpha, 9-4. The "little dirty Oxford" quartet added their voices to the music, and a flock of singles, doubles, and triples carried the Sigma Nu's to their victory.

Bill Chanslor and Mac Bintliff led the Sigma Nu attack with a double each. Winning pitcher Karl Butz allowed the Lambda Chi team only four runs in spreading out six hits.

The Draft Dodgers beat Oak Grove, 5-3, in a Mica division league final. Dick McRoberts and O. O. Hare each hit a double in pacing the Dodger win. McRoberts and Hare's hits drove in three runs in the second inning or Boyd White whiffed six Oak to clinch the game. Winning pitcher Groves batters.

Shot put champion Maxey Hart fanned four Delta Kappa Epsilon hitters, and held them to two hits, but the Dikes got four runs in the fourth inning to go ahead in the game, and win, 7-3.

Sigma Phi Epsilon beat Beta Theta Pi, 9-0, on only two hits. The SPE's got seven of their runs in the last inning, and the other two in the fifth inning. Winning pitcher C. B. Sumrall struck out 18 of 21 Beta batters in shutting them out.

South Central Texas defeated Prather Hall, 5-1, as James Ross limited the Frather nine to three hits. Allen Lackland paced the SCT hitting attack with a two-run double in the third inning.

Tip Marrell got three hits, a double, triple, and home run in three trips to the plate in pacing AIME to a shutout, 7-0, over Alba Club. AIME pitcher Harold Crow pitched a no-hitter in collecting the victory, while the winners banged Alba pitching for 12 hits.

'Bartered Bride' Stage Matinee to Be at 3:30

When costumes for "The Bartered Bride," the Opera Workshop's yearly production, arrived recently from New York, there was much exclamation over the pretty ones for the girls and many laughs over some of the comic costumes for the circus scenes.

Audiences will get their first chance to look at this finery Tuesday at the special youth matinee at 3:30 p.m. in Hogg Auditorium. Other performances will be given Wednesday through Saturday at 8 p.m.

Following the unpacking, the costume crew retreated from the Department of Drama fell to work to fit each player in his costume and to make necessary adjustments.

Although the costumes for this show are borrowed from Van Morn and Son, Theatrical Costumers of Philadelphia, there is still a big job for the costume crew, for seams must be taken in and let out, buttons sewed on, and hems adjusted.

Since the action of the opera takes place from noon until twilight of a feast day in Czechoslovakia, the costumes are gay and bright-colored to fit the mood of the opera.

Typical of the costumes worn by the women is one which is worn by both Helen Blount and Elsie Dvorak, who alternate in singing the part of Maria.

The dirndl skirt of red taffeta is covered by an apron of light green satin. Both are trimmed at the bottom with strips of various colors. The blouse of white batiste with puff sleeves is worn under a dark green vest of velvet.

For a headdress, Helen and Elsie wear a coronet of flowers with multi-colored ribbons hanging down on both sides. The other women wear scarves.

Dick and Charles wear blue trousers tied at the waist with a yellow cummerbund and tucked in at the bottom into knee-length black boots. Over a white blouse with long, full sleeves, they wear a red vest. Their hats is a red beret trimmed with black wool.

Tickets for this pageant of color and song can be purchased at the Music Building box office. Prices for the matinee Tuesday are 35 cents for children and 70 cents for adults. At the other performances, general admission is $1.20 or 60 cents for Blanket-Tax holders.

Playwright-student Abhors the Norm

By DOROTHY CAMPBELL

"People from other departments shouldn't tell drama majors to quit acting eccentric," said R. A. Farque, senior playwright-ing major whose plays "The Occupant" and "My Darling Husband and Co-Star" were recently performed by members of the Curtain Club.

"It's essential to a dramatist that he create a personality for himself, like Tallulah Bankhead and Mae West have done. Hollywood has almost dissolved this idea, and now the movie stars act like your next door neighbor instead of holding fabulous parties and taking champagne baths, like they did in the past, Farque said.

"Members of the Department of Drama are actually getting normal," he exclaimed. "In fact, I recently saw several members from the department playing baseball, and I thought to myself, 'My gawd, what's the department coming to?'"

Farque is the only senior playwrighting major in the department. He said that he has always been interested in writing, and chose playwrighting for a career after his novel "Ragina Landers" was rejected three times by different publishing companies. A friend informed him that he had a flair for dialogue, so he began writing plays. "Homecoming," a one-act, was written and performed in demonstration lab last May.

He intends to get his master's degree if the army doesn't interfere. Then he plans to begin his career in a smaller city, such as Houston, before trying his luck in New York.

Farque says that he gets his ideas for his plays from reading events that happen to people in the newspapers, or from past experiences. "The Occupant," however, came to him in a dream, like a small revelation, he said. After he has obtained his characters in this way, he then supplies their mannerisms from people he knows.

High comedy, representative of N. Behrman, Somerset Maugham, and Noel Coward, is the type of writing he enjoys doing most. Tennessee Williams, however, is his favorite playwright.

Farque said that many people have the wrong idea about the theater. "When Shirley Temple got her divorce, and Ingrid Bergman became a subject of controversy, several mothers took their daughters out of drama," he said.

Besides drama, Farque enjoys books and opera. Bullfighting and wrestling matches are his favorite sports because "they are both so dramatic, and put on such a good show."

'Oliver Twist' Star In Austin Thursday

Robert Newton, one of England's favorite stage and screen stars, will be in Austin Thursday in conjunction with his latest film, a J. Arthur Rank version of "Oliver Twist," which starts Friday at the State Theater.

Newton will speak to University acting and directing classes in Hogg Auditorium at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. Students and faculty of the Department of Drama have been invited to question him.

Known to American audiences as Long John Silver of "Treasure Island," his only American film, Newton has also starred in "Odd Man Out," "Hatter's Castle," and "Henry IV."

Besides his appearance at Hogg in Austin, he will attend a press conference at the Commodore Perry, be presented with a key to the city by the mayor, be made an honorary Texan by Governor Allan Shivers, and dedicate a teenage room at the Austin Public Library.

The America's premiere of "Oliver Twist" will be held Wednesday evening in Houston. Proceeds are to go to the cancer fund. Newton will stop in Austin and El Paso on his way to the West Coast.

Dance Recital To Be May 3, 4

Orchosis Started
On SRD Lawn

Thirty years ago a group of University girls dressed as Grecian maidens and danced on the lawn of SRD. They called themselves "The Dancing Club."

Today "The Dancing Club" has a different name, "Orchosis." The word comes from Greek meaning to dance and in its broadest sense means the complete rhythmic coordination of body and music. Orchosis will present a seven-dance recital May 3-4 in the studio of the Women's Gym. Tickets are 50 cents.

"Orchosis is a modern dance club, but that's a misnomer if there ever was one," said Miss Gloria Ragus, sponsor of the group.

"People have all kinds of ideas about modern dancing. Some think it is being able to jiggle. Others think it's being able to do the latest step that comes out, like the samba or mambo," she said.

Modern dance puts common involuntary movements into voluntary rhythmic movement.

"If you still do not understand modern dance, think of something similar to ballet, only much less formal with much more freedom of emotional expression," she added.

"Orchosis is not a club for people who intend to go into professional dancing. It is strictly for recreation. The girls come over and practice because they want to. Everything we do is on a voluntary basis, and the recitals we put on are for our enjoyment and yours, not to further any professional aims," she said.

A Disinterment?

STUMP SPEAKING tonight will pull out some buried campaign issues if students show enough interest to demand it.

The main excitement in campaigns this spring has been entirely behind the scenes as in the case in so many campaigns. But public or not, the regrettable thing is that this under-cover work has not been in the students' interest. Politics this year has been the effort of student candidates and their backers in some instances to provide themselves with excitement of one sort or another.

The Greek-Independent issue is also regrettably present in the campaigns. Greeks are branded with their usual "rich playboys" label, and the Independents, say the Greeks, are "out to get" the fraternities.

One vice-presidential candidate who says he is an independent Independent drew the ire of Mica men by saying he was free of both the Fraternity Clique and the Inner Circle of Mica. The Mica men claim that there are no politics in that organization; that they speak as individuals on politics. It is doubtful that the student body will ever accept this as actual fact. When a group of top men in any organization get together and make decisions those decisions are going to be regarded as representing policy of that organization. So it is that when Mica men get together in the interest of politics their actions and statements are going to be regarded as representing Mica.

That the Fraternity Clique is more clearly definable than the "Inner Circle" of Mica cannot be denied, but there is a definite corollary between the two which also cannot be denied.

Several attempts have been made to form a political party on the campus built on issues rather than affiliation. But none of these attempts have had lasting effect. Even within these worthy attempts there have been students more interested in their affiliations than in issues.

And as long as the Fraternity Clique continues to nominate candidates for office this unwelcome importance of affiliation will continue. If there is any reason why two fraternity men should not run against each other for campus offices, it is not tangible. Supporters of the fraternity nomination system say that elections would degenerate into personality contests. In reality, that is almost what the elections are now. And would the results be disastrous if anyone who wanted to run simply did so?

It would remove the playboy of a great many, of course, but the students would benefit from this action. Now it is not necessarily the candidate himself who is the interesting party to watch; it is the king-makers behind him.

To charges that student government will be dominated by the Greeks or Independents if one or the other candidates gets elected one only has to take a look at the past to realize the fallacy of this line of thought. The actual fact is that there are not enough interested Greeks or Independents to run student Government without help from the other group. Every year students are warned of dire things to come from the opposing faction, but the facts have not borne out these warnings.

Student Government has spent a lot of time and effort in attempting to grow up. The results of the past few years have been noteworthy. But until the students themselves demand a more efficient conscientious governmental system they will have no more voice in University affairs than they have had before. University officials cannot be condemned for their lack of interest in student government until students present a more mature realistic attitude toward their own affairs.

If student politics are to be brought in the open and removed from small cliques, the students themselves must show an interest.

Stump Speaking is one political gathering worth attending.

'Not Just the Initials,' Say Fightin' Senators

By BOBBY JONES
Saturday morning newspapers reported to an admiring American public that three of our senators had indulged in some mild pleasantries which culminated in the ultimate epithet.

He called me a very dirty name, said one of those stalwart lawmakers of the land, referring to another of the trio. Curious reporters, anxious to transmit the news, pressed him for some clue, but the offended one declined. "There is a lady present," he said with a pretty sense of decorum.

"Was it S.O.B.?" persisted

one gentleman of the fourth estate, putting audible quotes around the nasty old initials.

That was it, it was blushing confessed. And it wasn't the initials, either!

Following such an insult, many redress was inevitable, but wiser heads prevailed before the affair got beyond the pushing stage.

How did the name-calling start, though? A difference in opinion over MacArthur policies, we are told. Well, we're proud that our senators have the courage and intestinal fortitude to be ready to fight for their proud name and their policies.

Cautious souls may murmur that perhaps our senators should try to preserve dignity—act like the wise, reflective mature men which the American public chose to represent it.

Nay, say we. We stand solidly behind our hero, the impugned senator who now has courageously announced: I'm willing to fight anybody who calls me a war-monger . . .

BLUE SONG
Here again is the same sad story;
Here again the old worn song—
I loved her dearly, deeply,
But she cared not for long.

What sad, sorry makeup
Has cast again the fool?
What foolish, childish drama
Has played me the broken tool?

Would I but learn the voice
Of love
And speak it with tender sighs!
But love has turned me away again
And has spoken to me with lies.

Reds Crack UN Line In Thrust Past 38th

Based on the Associated Press

Chinese Red hordes tore a big hole in United Nations lines today and plunged south of the 38th parallel in Central Korea.

A Chinese division with cavalry mounted on Mongolian ponies was reported in the forefront of the massive drive.

Another Red force crossed into South Korea in the west, headed toward Uijongbu on the way to Seoul.

But the big smash—on 100 miles of flaming front in the third day of the Red counter-offensive—was aimed along the mountainous middle.

There a Chinese Red division supported by mounted cavalry scored a breakthrough and drove on toward Chuncheon, eight miles south of 38.

Withdrawals ranging up to fifteen miles were forced on the hard-pressed United Nations troops on all fronts despite the all-out support of allied artillery and planes.

Nearly 9,000 Reds were killed or wounded by artillery alone on Monday, the Eighth Army estimated. Swarms of planes claimed an added toll of nearly 2,000 and perhaps as much as 4,000.

Allied forces in the West-Central area gave up Yonchon and pulled back to positions just north of the 38th parallel. Yonchon is six miles north of 38.

The Texas House accepted amendments to Representative Paul Wilson's Congressional redistricting plan Monday in an apparent attempt to give several Congressmen a better political chance.

The house adjourned without a direct vote on the entire bill. The measure will have to wait its turn behind any amendments on the calendar today.

A second minister took a walk from Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet Monday night, joining Aneurin Bevan who charged that Britain was shackled to the "wheels of American diplomacy" in a reckless armament drive.

The resignation of Board of Trade President Harold Wilson, 35, "boy wonder" of the labor government, was announced by Attlee, whose thin-edged majority in parliament was further threatened by the internal party fight.

Twelve hundred doctors will be drafted into the armed forces in July, August, and September unless volunteers fill the gap in ten weeks.

The Defense Department issued a draft call Monday for 1,202 priority on doctors. There are medical men who received their scientific education at government expense or were deferred during World War II to attend medical school, and who have served less than 90 days in the armed forces.

The requisition will not be necessary, the department said, if enough doctors come in voluntarily to meet the growing needs of the Army, Navy, and Air Force.

The Truman-MacArthur controversy churned up Monday a US Senate proposal to change the Constitution so future presidents could be voted out of the White House by the people.

Senator Hendrickson (R-NJ) introduced a resolution calling for such an amendment.

Hendrickson received thousands of letters and telegrams asking if "something couldn't be done" to remove President Truman as a result of his dismissal of General MacArthur.

Enlisted Air Force Volunteer Reservists—those who did not get drill pay before they were called up—will be released after twelve months active duty, the Air Force told Congress Monday.

Congress was asked Monday to create a Senate-House committee on crime and a federal crime commission to wage war on the underworld.

Resolutions calling for the two new bodies were introduced by Senator O'Connor (D-Md) for himself and Senators Hunt (D-Wyo) and Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Kefauver is chairman of the present Senate Crime Committee, which has spent almost a year prying the lid off organized crime in the United States. He, O'Connor, and Hunt make up the Democratic majority on the committee.

Its sensational public hearings ended several weeks ago, and the life of the committee is due to expire April 30.

Texas State Legislators gave scattered applause Monday to an address calling for the expulsion of Russia from the United Nations.

House and Senate met in joint session to hear Donald R. Wilson, chairman of the American Legion National Foreign Relations Commission. Wilson said Russia should be branded an international bandit and ejected from the United Nations.

A Frog's Fancy Turns to Courtin' Bill or No Bill

By the Associated Press

The bullfrogs in Fayette County make beautiful music.

The farmers like to hear that pretty music coming up from the creek. Representative E. B. Spacek of Fayetteville described it Monday in the House.

But the symphony is becoming a loud brass band.

The bullfrogs have multiplied in numbers and grown in size.

"They've started running instead of leaping," Spacek said.

Back in 1943 Spacek shepherded a bill through the Legislature making it illegal to kill a bullfrog during its mating season down in Fayette County.

Monday he introduced a bill to get that law repealed—too many bullfrogs.

"I got that closed season to protect the bullfrogs," Spacek said. "The farmers wanted them singing down on the creek. And that was during World War II, too. If we had enough bullfrogs, we could give the boys some sport killing them when they came back from the war."

Spacek says you oughta see these bullfrogs now.

"Did you ever eat one of their hind legs? Best eating in the world. You kill a bullfrog down in Fayette County and you've got a pound of meat."

How big are they? Spacek held his hands up about 20 inches apart—"that long."

'Cavemen' Seek Depth Of 'Dead Man's Hole'

An exploration of a cave with an unknown depth will take place Sunday.

The venture will be led by John Riggs, a member of the National Speleological (cave-studying) Society, and Carroll Slemaker. Both are University students.

The cave is situated two miles south of Marble Falls, and is ominously named "Dead Man's Hole."

The two adventurers are looking for other students who are bored with surface life and would like to explore the underground. They can be contacted at Campus Guild, telephone 8-4673.

The cave is actually a fissure in the earth's surface known as limestone sink. The opening drops a short distance to a small ledge, and then continues almost straight down to a depth that has never been adequately measured. A lantern has been lowered as far as 160 feet without even hitting a ledge; the actual bottom has never been reached.

Riggs and Slemaker have devised an ingenious method to accomplish their task. A 200-foot rope will be tied to an automobile at one end with a wooden plank platform at the other end on which the explorers will sit.

The automobile will gradually back towards the cave, allowing a slow and safe descent. An alternate rope will be tied to a stake on the surface and dropped into the fissure to be used in case of emergency.

Slemaker stated that if the venture is successful, it may reveal an entire chain of underground caves and caverns in the Marble Falls area. At least it will clear up some of the mystery of "Dead Man's Hole," which is said to have claimed the lives of two Confederate soldiers during the Civil War.
